AS TALK OF A COMING ROSE a faded fighter took root between President Macapagal-Arroyo and the Senate, opposition seemed around at Manila general as reported in the capital's chamber.

Officially, Brig. Gen. Danilo Lim has not been the focus of the debate between the Senate and the House. Some have argued that he is not the best person for the job. In fact, Lim is not the best person for the job.

Lim, Gen. Santiago Singson, chief of staff of the Armed Forces of the Philippines, also sought to head down reports of growing tensions among the troops. "We will not be manipulated by groups who want to sow discord within the military," Singson said at the start yesterday of the working session of the Philippine military.

GMA gag order questioned in Supreme Court

By TJ Singson and Robert C. Brando Jr.

TEN SENATORS YESTERDAY appealed to the country's three top leaders to sit down and avert a constitutional crisis after President Macapagal-Arroyo issued an order that put the executive and legislative branches on a collision course and talk of martial law and a coup d'état.

The appeal comes as the justices asked the Supreme Court to annul Executive Order No. 34, which bans administrative officials as well as police and military officers from lobbying in Congress without the approval of the president.

The justices, led by Majority Leader Francisco Bengzon, issued a statement urging President Macapagal-Arroyo to rescind Executive Order No. 34 and to refrain from such actions.

Miriam goes ballistic, blasts foes

By Juliet Lasing-Jewell and Robert C. Brando Jr.

SWEEPING AHEAD OPPOSITION DEMANDS, Sen. Miriam Defensor Santiago rebuffed yesterday the Senate of her own about an alleged plot to oust or kill President Macapagal-Arroyo.

And if her critics wanted to present evidence to back her claim, Santiago and the Senate would be the Senate's response, if the plot succeeded.

President Arroyo's Senate counterpart, Sen. Miriam Defensor Santiago, delivered her blister speech in Manila yesterday, blasting Arroyo's son, Benjamin III, and other critics of her administration. She said she would not allow the Senate to be manipulated by groups who want to sow discord within the military.

The Aquino family and Brando have both denounced Santiago's claim to go to the Senate.

Santiago accused Brando's "Welcome" group, which they met in the Senate today, of being a threat to the president's life.

Gudani invokes right to remain silent

By Dana Pineda

MR. GEN. FRANCISCO GUDANI and Lt. Col. Alexander Balanor were ordered to appear in court yesterday. They had already been ordered to appear in court yesterday.

The two Marine officers invoked their right to remain silent upon the advice of their lawyers during proceedings in the office of the Armed Forces Prosecutor General. The lawyers contended that no formal complaint had been filed against them.

"They want to effect a way to get information from the press and very officers without complying with the procedure," said Gudani. He said he would not allow the Senate to be manipulated by groups who want to sow discord within the military.

Gudani and Balanor testified yesterday before the Senate committee on national defense and security about an alleged government conspiracy to oust or kill President Macapagal-Arroyo.

Solons: Palace doesn't have 'PCGG has right to sell Marcos assets'

By TJ Bergante and Christine O. Asensato

MANILA MAY HAVE TO TELL BUT IT doesn't have the numbers to oust Sen. Franklin Drilon, administration supporter and president.

Sen. Ralph Recto said he wouldn't be surprised if the Palace wanted to replace Drilon with a new Senate President whose policies would support the administration's.

There was one hitch though—without Malasang, not its allies in the Senate could muster the 13 votes to oust Drilon out of the Senate presidency at the moment.

"I don't think that they have the votes but as at this point," Recto said, "as soon as they have the numbers, they will replace him."

He also doubted if Sen. Mickey Delos Santos, a staunch ally of President Macapagal-Arroyo, and Sen. Manuel Villar Jr. could produce the numbers even if they joined forces.

"That's always possible, but neither has the numbers at this point," he said when asked about the effect of a minority-filed motion.

Senate Pro-Temporary Speaker Juan Ponce Enrile said he wasn't sure what perceptions were made, but he didn't have the numbers. Besides, he added, Drilon enjoyed the support of at least 13 members of the 15-man administration bloc who "won't be coming around."

Drilon, for his part, remained unbothered about moves to oust him, warning that the Senate presidency was the "gift of 11 senators."

"The moment there is another senator who would have the support of 13 senators, I would willingly give him the presidency and transfer to him the gavel of the office," he said in a briefing. "The matter of the Senate presidency is not for Malasang to give. It is for the Senate to decide."

But Liberal Party (LP) national chair and Manila Mayor Lito Abaya supported Drilon in name and "followed his own political direction."

"Obviously, he is committed to his own agenda," Abaya said yesterday, noting that Drilon, who is LP president, was involved in efforts to destabilize the government.

Abaya said the LP was "not part" of the dirty politics being employed by Drilon against Ms. Arroyo or in his alleged plot to oust the President.

Abaya was referring to the allegations of Santiago that Drilon and former President Corason Aquino were behind a plot to oust the President by Oct. 15.

Abaya said Drilon had been throwing mud and accusations against Ms. Arroyo and her government and that the party was not behind such actions.

"We disavow anything from the president of the party. We do not agree with what our party president, Senate President Drilon, is doing right now," he said emphatically.

Asked what he saw were plans for the LP to discipline Drilon, Abaya said the party would "come to that." ■ PHILIPINO D. SANTIAGO

THE PRESIDENTIAL COMMISSION on Good Government (PCGG) has the authority to sell the Marcos jewelry collection.

This according to PCGG Commissioner Ramon Alondo, who cited on June 1999, when the agency, the authority to dispose of the Marcos ill-gotten wealth and assets, including the jewelry collection once owned by former First Lady Imelda Marcos.

Alondo cited a press conference yesterday after former Solicitor General Rodolfo Cuenca, lawyer for the Marcoses and former Representative Rep. (Dagupan) Dilingkian said the PCGG did not have the authority to sell the Marcos jewelry.

"Since 1988, we have been disposing of Marcos assets. They Cuenca and Dilingkian should have known that so why are they questioning our authority only now? They should have done their homework," Alondo said.

He noted that the PCGG's actions were all aligned with the opposition. Dilingkian was former spokesperson of former President Joseph Estrada. Cuenca was a lawyer volunteer for former presidential standard-bearer Fernando Poe Jr. while Alondo is a lawyer for Sen. (Rizal) Corp. chair Edmundo C. Cuyayan. ■ JOHN ABAY

Tourist video shows full Bali horror

KUTA, INDONESIA—THE VIDEO images are grisly but the effect is chilling.

A tourist in black T-shirt video-tapes the full horror in Kuta, where floods and lands are rising, drinking and chasing away, repeating a horror scene right now.

The video took several hours to shoot, and the scenes of the horror are not over yet. The images of the three bombings that ripped through Bali, killing at least 20 people and wounding more than 100, are all available in a glimpse into the minds of those who left their homes to see the horror.

"This is a terrible bombing," Bali police chief I Hock Mangkuhita said in a press conference. "I am not sure that there are others involved in this bombing. There are those who planned it, there were those making the arrangements, those preparing the bombs," he said. "There are those who were involved in the bombing, but the only one who was not involved in the bombing was the one who was not involved in the bombing."

The tourist video shows the aftermath of the bombings of what was once a busy beach. The beach is now a scene of destruction, with the bodies of the victims lying on the sand. But some of the wounded from the blast are being taken to hospitals by full helicopters, which the Indonesians apparently pushed back their backs to allow rescue planes and helicopters.

CITY OF SAN FERNANDO—A LEADER OF THE SMITY-LIST group Anak Pawis was killed and another was abducted in Nueva Ecija on Sunday night, incidents that the group had blamed on Maj. Gen. Jovito Palparan, chief of the Army's 7th Infantry Division.

Court acquits suspects in actress' killing

Sherelyn

By Jocelyn R. Uy

A FATHER AND SON (D&S), charged each other and themselves yesterday morning after a court found them not guilty of killing former child actress Sherelyn.

In her 36-page decision, Judge Glorinda P. Guay of the Los Angeles City Regional Trial Court Branch 22, shed reasonable doubts as the reason for acquitting Reynaldo Pina and his son Ronald and Mark Pina.

"My family has suffered for years just because of the case, that the truth has surfaced," Reynaldo told reporters yesterday.

Misunderstanding

Mark Pina was not present when the decision was read.

Reynaldo, who was identified as the triggerman, begged his would mother-in-law to the judge and the media.

The Pinas were accused of killing Sherelyn, whose real name is Nicole Prado, on Dec. 18, 2001 after a traffic incident at the gate of BP Executive Village in Los Altos Hills City.

Thursday, June 21, was that fateful time in the head-on car collision the two days before she died.

In her decision, Guay said that although the Pinas were at the scene of the crime, there was no witness testimony with "sufficient veracity" that they had fired the gun that killed Sherelyn.

Also, the prosecution failed to prove that the Pinas were the only ones in a position to shoot Sherelyn on the basis of the evidence of the bullet on the left-side window of the car," the judge added.

However, the court made it clear that the not guilty verdict did not mean that the accused were "totally opinionated and godless" of the crime.

"It only means that the prosecution failed to its duty to overcome the presumption laid down by our fundamental laws in favor of the accused."

Reynaldo said his family will be moved to the justice system in the country.

"We had nothing to do with it. I had nothing to do with it," Reynaldo said.

to who shot Sherelyn?

This was the question asked by the victim's family after the court decision was handed down.

'Inevitable'

"My daughter is dead and a body is responsible for it. This is a tragedy," said Oscar Baldo.

The victim's son, Arlo Jr., and they would still find "ways and means" to identify the real killer.

"We have a DNA police report. We have forensic technology. If we have to wait the evidence in the lab, then we will," Sherelyn's

Caloocan wants gender equality

By Nancy C. Cerezo

THE CALOOCAN CITY GOVERNMENT HAS PRESSED an ordinance creating a body to strengthen women's rights and promote their role as equal partners of men in nation building.

The Gender Development Council (GDC) will formulate policies for the promotion of women and children and ensure the strict implementation of existing laws on gender and development.

The body would be headed by Governor Herveo Nolasco, City Mayor Gloria Estrella will be honorary chair.

The GDC was created in accordance with Republic Act 7172 on the Implementation of Women's and Equal Partners of Men in Nation Building.

"The GDC will spearhead the city's activities on gender and development," Estrella said.

The City Council, however, said, should at least funds for the new body's various programs amounting to less.

To guarantee the committee's success, a technical group composed of representatives of various departments of the local government was set up, she mayor added.

The technical group's primary duty was to monitor GDC's progress and prepare various training programs and activities for the city's women population, according to Estrella.

Among the activities lined up are orientation, briefing, information and education campaigns to disseminate women's rights and privileges.

The group would also organize "gender courses" and initiate the setting up of fund projects to women financing.

It would also coordinate with national agencies and institutions to acquire skills on the subject.

Blessing good for pets' health

By Margaret C. Giza

FOR TWO YEARS STRAIGHT, MISS NINA, 25, had been bringing her two dogs to an annual blessing ceremony with the hopes that the rituals would be good for her pet health.

"Machin and Maddy have not been sick since I had them blessed at San Antonio de San Jose in Makati last year," Nina said in an interview at Starwood City in 1998, where a special clinic for animals was held last Saturday.

The center was also a good way for her pets to "socialize" with other animals, she added.

Philippine Animal Welfare Society (PAWS) director Anna Gallego-Garcera said animal ownership in the country has increased in recent years as shown by the growing number of owners and pets attending such events.

But the events would have to look for a different venue the next time around.

"This is the last year we would hold animal blessings in churches," Gallego said. "We are planning to hold future blessings in a public and more pet-friendly place because of the huge crowds that gather for the ritual."

The PAWS director said they have been helping the lives of St. Francis of Assisi by organizing events that encourage affection and care for all animals.

The center is known for its love for animals.

Choi, Maruyama post historic 1-2 US PGA finish

GREENSBORO, NORTH CAROLINA—K.J. Choi and Shigeaki Maruyama became the first Asian-born players to enjoy a 1-2 finish on the US PGA Tour by coming out on top at the Greensboro Chrysler Classic on Sunday.

South Korea's Choi moved last four American-born players who have captured USPGA titles as he posted his first win as American-born since 1992.

Choi finished the last four after a 65-hole total to take a lead he never surrendered and won by a two-shot victory over Japan's Maruyama.

Playing with 10 more shots in his bag, Choi closed a closing six under par 66 to finish at 134 on par 72.

"I'm nervous before the first round, but once I'm out there I'm like I did in 1992, when I had two victories," he said. "I was able to find my rhythm through the tournament."

14-year-old Choi won 1992 and last time in 1992, although he did not win since 1992. Choi collected $90,000 to pump to $200,000 as he moves his earnings up to $200,000.

he changed his swing at the start of the year to another to work the ball with more consistency.

"I think the ball's OK when the wind's off the right, but when the wind's off the left, you're going to miss fairways and greens to the right," said Andy Roddick, Choi's caddy.

"It's brought in consistency, when he can get on 18 pins, instead of nine or six."

Choi earned the event with five winners' ties before a tie for the lead, a perfect finish in a player with improving confidence.

For some leaders here, leading the field in both driving accuracy and putting, a pretty solid combination.

It was a stark transformation from last week, when he missed three of the four holes.

"I think he's the strongest Asian player in the world," Maruyama said.

The two are good friends who maintain some similarity in demeanor, a language they learned to live with in their time.

Maruyama led the first two rounds with Choi, but he did not play as well as Choi.

Maruyama said he was not sure if he was going to win, but he was not sure if he was going to win.

K.J. Choi celebrates with caddy Maruyama on the 18th green.
